

FRANCOIS HOLLANDE

President of France (2012-2017)

François Hollande was the President of the French Republic from May 2012 to May 2017. During his mandate, he carried out important reforms which restored the competitiveness and the growth of the French economy. He faced with authority the terrorist attacks that afflicted the country in 2015 and 2016.

President Hollande took important decisions on behalf of France, in particular the engagement of the Army in Mali in order to fight against terrorist groups located in the Sahel. It is under his presidency that the global climate agreement was adopted in Paris in December 2015.

Today, President Hollande chairs the Foundation "France is committed" whose mission is to support all initiatives that contribute to reinforcing solidarity and creating bonds between citizens.

Since his departure from the Elysée, he has written several books, amongst them "The lessons of power" in which he describes the high points, and the low points of his presidency, and "The democratic crisis" where he suggests major modifications to the constitution of the fifth Republic.
